

JUNIOR STAFF AT CAMP IS ACTIVE

Scout Center on Octorara Is Kept
Clean and Neat by Boys Who Know How.

The general appearance and neatness of the Boy Scout Camp on the Octorara Creek has been commented on very favorably since the camp opened two weeks ago, according to those who have visited that place. A great deal of the credit for this belongs to the members of the Junior staff, who were on duty at the camp a week before the place was opened.

Under direction of the members of the Senior staff the youngsters were given the task of putting the entire camp party to rights. To them fell the cleaning of the headquarters building, the Scoutmaster's Lodge, Kindness Center and the dining hall. In addition the grounds surrounding the various unit camps had to be put to rights.

The members of the Junior staff, all of whom are Scouts, receive no recompense for their efforts and all look on the summer work as a great experience in business detail as well as scouting.

The Junior staff is represented at the headquarters building by Henry Heintzelman, of Coatesville, and Isaac Whyte, Jr., of Wayne; Robert Amway, of Downingtown; Harry Yerkes, of West Chester, and Everett Brown, of Coatesville, are stationed at Kindness Center; William Baldwin, of West Chester, is at the Indian village, while the assistant stewards are George Stine, of Downingtown; Sharpless Worrall, of Kennett Square, and Victor Amway, of Downingtown. These boys have general charge of the unit kitchen police and have one of the most important assignments in the camp.

A member of the Junior staff is stationed in each of the unit camps. David Helig, of Downingtown, is at Camp 1; Chandler Bernard, of Kennett Square, at Camp 2; Ward Northeimer, of Coatesville, at Camp 3; Robert Abbe, of Unionville, at Camp 4, and Merton Yerger, Coatesville, at Camp 5.

Ray Watson, of West Chester, has charge of the camp canteen and William Worrall, of Kennett Square, is the life saver at the Swimming pool.
