

Games of the 2000 Water Olympiad

Events (Ability level)

Tube Wrestling (Blue)

One scout from each troop wrestles another trying to become king of blue section.

Iron-man Triathlon (1 Blue / 2 Blue, White, or Red)

Three scouts compete in a relay of swimming, biking, and running events.

Scoutmaster Feet First Relay (Blue)

One adult leader from each troop swims feet first from the blue section to the finish line.

Underwater Weightlifting (Blue)

One scout dives to the bottom of the blue section to pick up a weight while wearing a PFD.

Human Canoe (White)

Four scouts from each troop form a human canoe and race against others in the white section.

Slam Dunk Diving (Blue)

One scout competes for his troop to perform the most creative dunk from the diving board; alley-ups are allowed. Points are awarded from most creativity and spectacular dunks.

Wet PJ Relay (Red)

Four scouts from each troop race other troops to swim across the red section with clothing on and change clothes with the other scouts. Scouts must provide their own clothing (long sleeve shirt and pants)

Leaky Bucket Relay (1 Blue, 1 Red, 1 White)

Three scouts from each troop pass a leaky bucket across the three sections as fast as they can to fill a can. The troop with the most water in their can wins.

Penny Dive (White)

One first year scout from each troop can help rack up points as they retrieve pennies from the bottom of the white section. Each penny is worth one point.

Wheelbarrow Relay (White)

Two scouts from each troop race across the white section with one scout held by the ankles while swimming.

Greek God Splash Contest (Blue)

One leader from each troop dives for the biggest splash. Wearing of toga and costuming (no dirt!) are encouraged. Points awarded for most creative and biggest splash. Pain is awarded but not encouraged.

Greased Pig (Blue)

Two scouts from each troop try to get a slippery orb from the bottom of the pool while escaping injury.

Setting up tarps and banners is encouraged at 2:00 PM Saturday. Troops should arrive at the pool at 2:30 PM. Troop spirit is awarded with extra points!
